Joe and family. I was so very sad to learn today of Amy's death. I was privileged to go to school with her and know her well in Bennettsville. She was such a smart, sweet and caring person, and her personality was so unique. My prayer is for God's comfort and support in the coming weeks and months - but also for his assurance that Amy is in a much better place. God Bless.

“ When Amy was in the 11th grade at Marlboro Academy, I was in 1st or 2nd grade. I remember being outside at recess and she would pay special attention to me. She would come to see me when I was at the swings. I called her “Mama!” She would play with me, and I loved her innocently. I have always carried that love with me. When I began working with elementary-age children a few short years ago, I realized the importance of showering the young children with the love Amy gave me. The first time a child called me “Mama,” I immediately thought of Amy, and hoped they would one day remember me the way I have always remembered her. While she probably never knew the impact she had on me as a small child, I never forgot. I carry her love in my heart every day.

“ Amy and I clicked from the moment we met and a long friendship began. She once drove an hour out of her way to be with me as we flew to Washington State, relieving my flight anxiety. She was brilliant, funny and always so kind, I will carry a small piece of her with me for the rest of my life.....

“ Omg my heart is totally broken. Joe, I am praying for you and the family. There are not enough words to describe Amy. To know her is to love her. The love and compassion she showed to everyone she met was definitely a sight to see. No matter where we went someone was always coming up and hugging her and telling her how much they miss seeing her or working with her. She will always be my Boss Lady and friend till we meet again.... Teresa Gibbs
