“ To the family of BJ I am sorry for your tragic loss. I did not know BJ personally but reading the obit I wanted to express my sympathies to you during these very difficult days ahead. May the loving promises recorded at Isaiah 25:8 which assures us that God will swallow up death forever and wipe tears from our faces be comforting as you mourn this great loss.

“ It's crazy you're gone. From the time I can remember I had the biggest crush on you. You, Barrett and Jordan were the three musketeers, I always wanted to be with you guys and be like y'all. Barrett wouldn't let me though because I was lame, but you always made me feel better and took up for me. We lost touch for a while and started talking again a few months ago. You helped me with so much, your heart is pure gold, god got blessed with an amazing angel and I miss you even though we didnt talk nearly enough. Love you superman. Give Jordan a hug from me and Barrett. Thank you for all the long night talks, advice and showing that no matter what you go through someone loves you. Fly high superman 💜😞👨‍🚀

“ To the family of BJ I don't know you personally but I wanted you to know you have been in my thoughts and prayers. Having three children of my own I can't imagine losing one much less two in a two year span. Praying God will give you strength in the days to come.

Our hearts go out to the Hudgins and Evans families. God certainly has given you a mountain to climb. The loss of two sons in so short a time is double a parent's worst nightmare. May your faith bring you through this trying time.
