“ I went to school with Cliff 12 years. I was always honored to refer to him as my friend. He was always so nice to everyone. After graduation, I moved away and lost contact. After the popularity of social media, I reconnected with him. A few years ago while visiting in Danville, I ran up on him and we talked a bit, he was the same nice guy that I had know in school. So sorry for the loss of him, but the sadness we all feel is for us. Cliff is happier than ever before as he has completed his race here on earth and is now celebrating his heavenly home. Our prayers are with the family and friends during this time of loss! Mark Johnson

“ Cliff was 16 years, of pepper and vinegar, when he spent a week on the North Carolina Coast with us. He and I got up early and went for a day of surf-fishing at Wrightsville Beach, NC. I landed some nice fish, the first hour, snookering Cliff, and boy did I rub it in. Cliff decided enough, of my verbal abuse, and stated, I did not come here to watch you fish. The next three hours , no bites for me, instead I watched him pull them in, and yes I paid the price, for my mistake of questioning his fishing ability. He, of course was a gentleman and never mentioned it again, but maybe a 1000 times. I love that boy.
