*Although we were only blessed to have known Liz a few short months, we are honored to have met this beautiful soul. Such a caring, loving woman with a heart of gold. We believe God brings people into a person's life for different, and unique reasons. Liz has brought out a happiness to my brother, Roger that I have never seen before. We feel so much richer to have been able to witness her beauty, strength and courage. Heaven has definitely gained yet another Angel. Our prayers and love to Sylvia and family,

“ I was fortunate enough to know and love Elizabeth and Sylvia. Sylvia and I have been friends for many decades. Elizabeth always brought Sylvia to see me and my sister (Rachel, who I lost to Covid-19 in August) when we came to Danville for family reunions in September. We would have wonderful visits and laugh and have a great time together. I loved her so much. She was so good to her mother and everyone. She was like family to me. I will miss her when I get to go back to Virginia. I will be praying for her mother, brother, and family. I know she is now with Jesus and Rachel in heaven and I know I will see her again

“ I'm going to miss Elizabeth, My life choices kept me from seeing her as often as I would have liked,
But it made the time I did spend with her more precious.
Several times when we did find time to catch up on our lives, we talked for for hours. One time several years ago we spent an hour talking about her brother Alan. One of Elizabeth's biggest fears was that Alan was never Babtised. I tried to reassure her that she would see him again.
I made Elizabeth a copper challenge coin with three words on it, Love, Hope, and Family. I told her to share it with Alan when she saw him.
At 4:52 AM she closed her eyes and departed on her journey to find Alan.
Elizabeth will be missed by everyone who was blessed enough to have known her.

Love you.
Lew

“ I know that sweet Elizabeth is in Heaven walking those streets of gold. She was certainly an angel here on earth! We were the only two nurses working together with Karya Home Health years ago, until the owner just up and decided to move out of town. Elizabeth was so sweet and kind to our patients. They just loved her. She went out of her way to help in any way she could. It was an honor and privilege to work with her and come to know her.
Fly high, Angel Elizabeth. You deserve all of the jewels there are to fill your crown.
God bless your family and please be with them as they learn to live here on earth without your beautiful spirit and love.

“ Elizabeth was my best friend growing up, having met in the 4th grade, and enjoying so much together over the years. Spending time with her last night will forever be a blessing I'll never forget. Elizabeth was a precious soul, and I'm so grateful to have been blessed as her friend for nearly 5 decades. Sylvia, Bill, and Roger - I love you all, and pray the Lord will comfort you as only He can. I know Elizabeth is in the presence of Jesus, and is with Alan and Mrs. Rogers again. What a reunion that must be! No more cancer or pain. She is home and is free. To God be the glory.
