“ Elizabeth had a wonderful reunion with her grandparents and her cousin. I thought the world of Mr and Mrs Willis and I remember when Elizabeth would come to the Danville Farmer's Market to see her grandparents. She was always with a smile and a kind word. May God give you inner peace in the days to come to get through this trying time in your life! You are in my prayers and thoughts.

“ May the family of dear Elizabeth find comfort in knowing that she now rests, awaiting the day Jesus calls for "all" in the grave to come out. (John 5:28, 29) She will awaken to life on earth when sickness, suffering, and death are no more. (Psalm 37:29; Isaiah 33:24; Revelation 21:4) As you await this grand time, take advantage of Jehovah God's invitation to "throw all your anxiety on him, because he cares for you." (1 Peter 5:7; Psalm 83:18) He is said to be "close to the brokenhearted; he saves those who are crushed in spirit." (Psalm 34:18) If you would like more information as to the condition and future of those that have fallen asleep in death, please visit www.jw.org. Take care and please accept my sincerest condolences.
