“ Bonnie, I'm heartbroken to see this. I remember the polite, handsome young man who came by the office beaming with his new driver's license 20 years ago, and see those same sweet eyes and smile in his picture. Praying for God's abiding peace, comfort, and blessings until you all see him again.

“ My thoughts and prayers go out to the family. In times like this, it's easy for us to question why things like this happen. well, the best answer I can come up with is. God has a plan for each and all of us, we have no idea how long we're going to have on this earth to take part in that plan. But, I do know that the short time that Joel was on this earth, he touched many lives. We hurt, and we mourn the loss of our friend, and loved-one. A devoted husband, father, and a friend to many. Rest assured, one day soon we'll see good ole' Joel again. Take a moment this evening to hug your kids, or your loved-ones a little tighter this evening because as the old saying goes. WE are NOT guaranteed tomorrow. God Bless everyone, may God bring you peace in this time.

“ Amie, I remember the first time Joel introduced me to you at a vb game at N main. You said "Joel has told me a lot about you". umm...I thought, what could he have possibly said about me...maybe for an older player, i was pretty good?? (: Well whatever it was nothing but good things ever came out of his mouth. He was one of the sweetest and most respectful guys I've ever met. It was an honor to have played vb on his team. And Amie, I have gained so much inspiration from you and the journal you always posted. Thanks for always keeping us up to date. Your faith in God and the words you wrote touched many lives. You and your family will be in my prayers. Love, Robin Shields

“ Amie and family, words can't express how much sorry I am about the loss of Joel. I didn't know him but he seemed like a devoted husband and father and the other roles he played. I can't imagine what you and your babies are going through, but know he loved you and is watching over you. You're in my thoughts and prayers!
