“ Linda Lou, this woman was a fighter. She was a hard worker and pushed herself no matter how much pain she was in. She was fearless, relentless and one of the strongest women I have ever known in my lifetime. This lady had NO FILTER whatsoever. She was an amazing cook. As far back as I can remember she was a security guard, aside from waitressing years ago. She had no tolerance for bull and was strict and set in her ways. She pushed and pushed and you know what, all of the things above is what made Linda... well, Linda. I will always remember her and her love for books, owls and most of all her son. She loved you Paul. She may have pushed you hard and set her expectations high but its because she knew you had better in you. I will continue to pray for you. You did so much to make her happy within the last few years. Your mama wanted you to be happy too though. Live your life in happiness while knowing that her pain and suffering is no longer there. May her spirit always be with you, reminding you, encouraging you and pushing you to strive for more. God speed.
