I remember day when Lisa and I both had our first child on the same day day and shared the same room and didn't even know it until my Aunt Mae and her granny (one in the same) walked in and pulled the curtian back and then we discovered that we had had a baby girl on the same day..Wow what a coincident that was. Lisa helped me name my baby.. We laughed so hard that day and then the fact that we both married friends and didn't know it until later. She could light up a room with her smile. May you soar with the angels and sing in the angels choir. Rest now in Gods comforting and loving arms.
