“ There is no telling how many lessons I learned from Shack. It started with me thinking he was a gruff old man busting my chops and ended with us being friends after I realized he thought enough of me to teach me how to be the best at what I do. The world is a better place and I'm a better man because of him. I didn't tell him here, but I will there. Prayers for his family and friends.

“ Shack, You were one of my best friends and one of my hunting buddies! I always enjoyed being with you! I know now that you are in heaven with your favorite dog, Molly. If there is bird hunting in heaven, you and Molly should locate the coveys before I get there!
