“ I met Shannon as we were waiting for our class to start at Radford. Shannon initiated the conversation with a joke and she was a blast for the remainder of our time together. We encouraged one another but she had the sense of humor that eased our worries. Shannon was thoughtful and an amazing social worker. We maintained contact after the MSW program and Shannon was excited about the future. I will miss her smile and quick wit. She was an amazing and generous person.

“ Shannon and I were classmates at Radford University for grad school and graduated in 2013 with our Master in Social Work degree. Grad school was tough and we used to share stories of working full time and going to grad school. The struggle was real! Shannon and I worked together in some work groups for class. Shannon was always smiling or laughing and just had a great sense of humor despite feeling uncertain about the work demands of grad school as all of us were. I remember me and some of the other group members reassuring Shannon that we all were going to get thru this as tough as it was feeling. Shannon was a hard worker and willing to contribute anywhere she could. My condolences go out to Shannon's family. She was a sweet person.

“ I will miss Shannon at work. It will not be the same without her popping in on me to see how my day is, seeing if I can eat with her, or are we walking out together at the end of the day. She was so easy to talk to and fun to be with. It will definitely be harder without her but I can't wait to see her again!

I'm so sorry for your loss. Shannon was always laughing and smiling at work. I only work with her a short time but she was wonderful to her clients as a clinician. I pray for each of you to have peace and let God's presence comfort each of you. To the children your aunt always spoke very loving about y'all. She was so proud of you three. Study hard and know she will forever watch over y'all from heaven.
