“Stephanie, Sam, John, and I were a bit of the odd fam in our last year of high school. We would skip our last class of the day to ride around park, talk about nothing and everything. Sometimes we had too much fun, but we created lasting memories. I'll never forget taking Steph home one day, my car was totally hotboxed, and we ran into an entire unit of cops on bikes just chillin at this stop sign. One guy motions me out of the car, and when I open the door, this cloud of dense smoke just envelopes us all, and Steph is just laughing her butt off in the passenger seat. Thankfully, the only thing that happened was some minor sexual harassment -right?- but as we drove off, the entire scenario felt more insane by the second. Here's to you Steph and all your lovely craziness. Miss ya.
